It would be very much appreciated if anyone having additions or corrections to this record would send them to me so that sometime in the future a more complete and permanent record can be issued. Births, deaths, short biographies, military records, occupations, religions, political affiliations, physical descriptions - - this is the material that will be of interest to future generations.

GENERAL: The number preceding the name heading each page indicates the generations removed from James (1) Franklin who heads our list. For example: Page 10, #6 Rufus Franklin is the sixth generation from James (1) Franklin, his children are #7, his grandchildren #8, etc.

SOURCES: New England Historical and Genealogical Register not only has been the best source of new information, but also verified most of the information received from Minnie Franklin of Fredonia, New York and other descendents contacted. Information also gathered from State and county records as listed on the following pages, cemetary records, census records, wills, family records, county records, marriage records, military records, correspondence with living descendents, etc.

MISSING LINKS: Does anyone have information about the following:

1628972

1. Parentage of James Franklin born 1650.
2. Name of wife of James Franklin born 1750 (son of Ichabod born 1713)
3. Name of wife of Andrus Franklin born 1734. Think it is Dorothy (Dolly) Pratt, but could be Scotland. Their children were: Rufus, Samuel, Daniel, Loana (Gale) and Sally (Hall).
4. Parentage of Fidelia Franklin born 1826 in Leon, New York, died January 26, 1881 in Madison, Wisconsin. Married Henry Waterhouse who was born March 7, 1822 in Leon, New York, and they moved to Wisconsin about 1845. Their children were: Jane Ann, Frank J., Daniel W., Orson Manford, Clarence Henry, Walter Howard.
5. Knowledge of Franklin records being compiled by Rev. Hiram Franklin Fairbanks (a Catholic priest), son of Rev. Caleb Fairbanks, a Methodist minister. Rev. Fairbanks died in 1915 in Milwaukee, Wisconsin and had been working on the Franklin history for many years.

INDEX: Alphabetical by surname and then given name. Women are cross-indexed and listed by both maiden and married names when known. When listed by maiden name the married name is in parenthesis. When listed by married name, the maiden name is given after the first name.

FRANKLIN

This compilation begins with a James Franklin who was born about 1650, place not known. Volume 105 of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register contains the following information, which was originally copied from "Short History of West Ferries of Jamestown", by Susan Braley Franklin.

"James had been a soldier in Phillip's War. On 24 August 1676 he had served under Captain Daniel Henchman. On 24 August 1676 he was in Captain Thomas Brattle's Company. On 9 December 1675 he was one of Captain Samuel Moseley's volunteer troopers and was present at the Great Swamp Fight later that month. On 24 August 1676 his pay was assigned at Braintree, Massachusetts. This would indicate that at that date he was probably a resident of that town. He was evidently a young man at the time of the war. James was living in Rhode Island in October 1693 when he bought land in Dartmouth. In 1703 he was of Swansey. In 1710 he was styled "cordwainer" and was of Rehoboth, but by 1716 had returned to Swansey. It seems probably that James Franklin was a brother of John Franklin of Swansey, cordwainer, who with his wife Ruth sold land there in 1717 and James Franklin was a witness."

The name of James' first wife is not known and by this wife his children were born. On April 17, 1695 in Swansea, Massachusetts, he married Elizabeth Hammond who was baptised on May 14, 1672 and was the daughter of Coprain Lawrence and Abigail Hammond. They had no children.

4. JAMES FRANKLIN (3)

James was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, having enlisted in Winchester in 1775. He was at Bunker Hill for two months, then in 1776 marched to Charleston then on to Rutland, Vermont. From there he marched to Ticonderoga and then on to Mount Independence where he stayed until his discharge in September 1776. (His file is S10-710 in the National Archives and Records Service, Washington, D.C.) He had two discharge papers, one signed by Captain William Humphrey and the other by Colonel Joshua Wingate. It is interesting to read the photostatic copies of the discharges and notice they are handwritten on scraps of paper probably torn from a notebook of some sort. He was able to receive a discharge because he was able to get a Jonathan Pottage or Partridge to take his place. This was the custom of that period.

After his discharge he returned to his home in Winchester, New Hampshire where he stayed for 24 years. From there he moved to Riga, Monroe County, New York State and stayed there about 18 years. In 1818 he and his son James moved to Leon, New York in Cattaraugus County. He located on lot #50 and built a log house. They were the first permanent settlers there. He set aside and stone fenced 1/2 acre of land as a cemetary and at this time (1957) several headstones of his descendents are still standing. His is not among them and it is not known whether he is buried there or not, although it is presumed so. His pension of $30.00 a year as a Revolutionary War soldier was granted in 1833. See pages 28,29,30,31

EDWIN JOHN FRANKLIN - 1/21/1846 - 1/31/1929

After his father died, Edwin went to live in Randolph, New York with the family of _____ Groves. While still in his 20's he moved to Michigan and was one of the pioneer lumbermen working in Michigan lumber camps scaling and estimating standing timber. About 1885 he acquired stock in Crawford (or Big Rapids) Furniture Company and went there to work. While there he met and married Mary Margaret Osborne.

About 1890 the company closed and he went with Gale and Bundy Lumber Company in Bundy, Michigan until all of the timber was cut and shipped from that area. About 1897 went to West Branch, Michigan with the Gale Lumber Company. When the operation was finished in that area they moved to the Hio area, but Edwin retired to a small farm on the eastern edge of West Branch.

In 1910 he had a good offer from Wilson Body Company in Detroit, so sold his farm and moved to Detroit. This company was sold (or closed) about 1920 and he bought a farm at Mt. Clemens, Michigan. Later when his health failed he sold the farm and moved back to Detroit where he worked for his son-in-law Claud W. Raymoure Lumber Company until shortly before his death.

He was a tall, well built man, light complexioned. He was a Methodist and a firm Republican.

Taken from: Gazetteer and Business Directory of Cattaraugus County, New York, 1874-5

John Towers from Ontario County settled on lot 37 in 1826 (Conewango Valley) and remained until death. His wife (now Mrs. Clarinda Ketchum) still lives near the old homestead. They brought with them 10 sheep and for 6 weeks an old trunk served them as a table.

One Sunday during the summer of 1827 Mr. and Mrs. Towers went to the the house of a neighbor to attend religious service, leaving their children at home with the injunction not to leave the yard. Upon their return the children said that they had "fed two black dogs just over the fence", which were really two black cubs that had laid down beside the brush fence which enclosed the yard and ate voraciously the bread thrown to them. A day or two after, Mr. Towers while searching for his cows was startled by the barking of his dog which had gone a little in advance and had treed the two cubs. Mrs. Towers who was attracted to the spot was commissioned to prevent the escape of the cubs while her husband went to a neighbor 3/4 of a mile distant, for a gun. He had but just started when she discovered the old bear and advised him of the fact. He told her to set the dog on it, which she did, and thus prevented its calling the cubs down. When Mr. Towers returned with the gun the old bear had left. He shot one of the cubs, and as darkness prevented his seeing the other of the cubs they builded a fire and remained there all night, a neighbor who was in search of his cows staying with them. In the morning they shot the other cub and before noon had tracked and killed the old bear.

HUBBELL

This is just a short Hubbell history of the ancestry of Adah Elizabeth Hubbell who married Charles Raymoure. In 1881 a Hubbell history was published by Walter Hubbell of Philadelphia and he published a second and more up to date edition in 1915. The following information was copied from the first edition:

The Hubbell name is of Danish extraction. Dane Nobleman Harold Hubbell in 1016 in the County of Northumberland, England, received from the King as a reward for faithful services, the estate and fortress of Haroldstone. His wife was Maria Moesting. He died in 1035 and left three sons and one daughter. His daughter was Eugenia who married the nobleman of Melville and this family is still prominent in England (1391).

Two sons died in the Battle of Hastings in 1066 when the Normans invaded England. The third son Hugo Hubbell was forced to leave the estate and roved for many years through England and France. Hugo married Betty Moore when he was about 60 and they settled in Rutland in the year 1113. This family was still there yet in the year 1190 on the estate of Hunsbog and Horstone, while four noblemen of this name went with King Richard Lionheart of England from England to the Holy Land and never returned.

A fifth nobleman name Andrew Hubbell married Eliza Peel and lived in Horstone. From then the records are missing until 1463 when in the struggle between the houses of York and Lancaster the estate was totally destroyed. A Walter Hubbell became perfectly poor and went with wife and children to Isle of Man. Later he established a little merchant house in Plymouth, England and died about 1515. He left a son William Hubbell who continued the business.

William married Annie Minant, a french lady, and died very old in 1576. His son Francis married a second time to Sophia Brown (no children by first marriage) and had two sons, Francis and Edward, and they lived in Plymouth, Devonshire, England.

It was thought at the time of publication of the first edition that Richard Hubbell who came to America was the son of either Francis or Edward. The second edition perhaps has cleared up this point, since it covers a period from 1096 to 1915.

Since this history is not of general interest to those tracing the Franklin line, each generation will be touched upon only briefly.

Richard (1) Hubbell born 1627 in Great Britain and died October 23, 1699 in Connecticut. Married 1st to Elizabeth Meigs in 1650 and had 7 children. Married 2nd to E.H. and had 4 children. Married 3rd to Abigail Walker and had 2 children. We follow one of the children of his first marriage.

Richard (2) Hubbell born 1654 and died 1733 in Huntington, Connecticut. Married 1st to Rebecca Morehouse and had four children. Married second to Hannah Silliway or Silliman and had 7 children. We follow a child of the first marriage.

Jonathan Hubbell born March 25, 1692, died 9/6/1766 in Newtown, Conn. Name of wife not known. Had 12 children and we follow his ninth.

Jeptha Hubbell born not known. Died 1794. Was a Revolutionary War soldier. married Experience Prindle. Had 11 children. We follow one of his sons.

Prindle Hubbell left Connecticut and settled in Detroit about 1730. This is the only mention of him in the published Hubbell histories. Probably lack of communications at that time kept the family from being in contact and so nothing was known of him. He was a currier and tanner and shoemaker and moved to Thamesville about 1793 and had a tannery at the bend of the River Thames. He married Abigail Sherman and had nine children. (Thamesville, Canada)

Two of his sons, Andrew and Lyman, both had sons named William. William had a daughter named Adah Elizabeth who married Charles Raymoure, but it is not know at this time which William. Nevertheless, the ancestry is the same since Andrew and Lyman were brothers.
